Senate Committee Votes $650,000 To Acquire Land For Gettysburg, Manassas

The Senate Appropriations Committee Friday recommended $650,000 for National Park Service land acquisition for the Gettysburg and Manassas (Va.) Battlefields.

Rep. James M. Quigley, Camp Hill, hailed the Senate committee's action as giving "strong reinforcement" to the campaign he is directing to preserve the Gettysburg Battlefield.

He indicated the next fight for the appropriation would come when House and Senate conferees meet to iron out differences between their versions of the money bill. The House earlier refused to appropriate any funds for park service land purchases at either battlefields in fiscal 1960, which begins July 1.

In a report, the Senate committee also stated the recommended funds should be spent on land already developed and blighted by objectionable establishments. This would give the park service a chance to restore the area to its Civil War likeness.

The provision also stated none of the funds is to be used for purchase of the Adams County home and farm.

The Senate committee pointed out it was to the county's own "advantage" to keep the property in its present state as farmland, much as it was a century ago during the Civil War battle.

Quigley Hails Action
Quigley praised the committee action as a "wise one because it puts the future of Gettysburg squarely in its own hands."

"It is possible through zoning," Quigley said, "to give more widespread protection to our history areas than any amount of money that could realistically be appropriated by Congress."

"The action of the Cumberland Township supervisors in appointing a planning and zoning commission more than a month ago gives Gettysburg a head start in using this money."

The park service in its budget request sought $1,250,000 for land purchases at Gettysburg and Manassas. It intended to spend $750,000 at Gettysburg and $500,000 at Manassas for expansion of existing park areas.

Retired Gen. Rockey Is Launching New Campaign

La. Gen. Keller Emrich Rockey has started a new campaign.

Back in 1945 the Associated Press was sending from two Jima such stories as this one on March 12 of that year: "Driving foot by foot against bitter resistance, Maj. Gen. Keller E. Rockey's Fifth Marine Division pushed the Japanese closer to the sea and destruction in a narrowing triangle around Kitano Point, northern extremity of Iwo."

That was after 21 days of fighting had caused upwards of 4,000 Marine deaths on the tiny Pacific island.

Here For 50th Reunion
The new campaign started by Keller E. Rockey is not expected to be as bitterly contested as those he fought as a Marine officer.

As a member of the class of 1909 of Gettysburg College he is here this week for the reunion of his classmates of a half century ago.

In Gettysburg three Republicans had sought the school board candidacy. Orville Orner, Robert Weaner and Dr. Richard News-ham, all of whom were nominated. On the Democratic ticket there were only two candidates for the three nominations. Dr. Richard Mara and Mrs. Muriel Rice were nominated but Orville Orner and Henry Herring each received four votes for the third nomination.

LIBRARY WILL ASK 1 MILL OF TAX AT POLLS IN NOVEMBER

Agreeing that tax support offers the "only answer" to future operation of the library, the directors of the Adams County Free Library at their June meeting Friday evening voted to ask Adams County for a one-mill tax levy for the library.

Without a dissenting vote, the board decided to petition the county commissioners to conduct a referendum on the special tax levy at the November election.

The action came after the board had discussed at length the "very precarious" financial situation of the library. With several book bills unpaid, the library has a current balance of $657 in its treasury and the prospect of ending the year $4,000 "in the red" if spending is held to budgetary limits.

Get $6,700 From County Now

The decision to go to the people on a tax referendum was made on the recommendation of an executive committee which had two meetings since the May board meeting with financial problems the chief matter for consideration. Many other county libraries in the state depend upon tax support, board members were told.

This year the library gets $6,700 from the county by action of the commissioners. A considerably larger sum had been asked by the library board. The library's share from the Community Chest was reduced by 10 or 11 per cent because the Chest fell short of its goal. State help is at the top figure possible under present law — $4,000. Otherwise the library's only other important sources of income are several boroughs and most of the school districts in the county and gifts from groups and individuals.

This year's library budget holds expenses to $22,000 and lists income of only $18,000.

To Circulate Petitions

The procedure following Friday evening's action will be to circulate petitions for the signatures of three per cent of the voters who balloted at the last general election. The petition will be filed with the county commissioners who will have a question placed on the November ballots to which voters may vote "yes" or "no".

The board was told that a one-mill tax will bring in $29,000. The decision to ask approval of a one-mill levy came after the board had debated and then defeated a proposal to seek approval of a two-mill library tax. Mrs. Mary S. Wilson, the librarian, said figures she had secured from the court house showed a two-mill tax would mean an average of $3.40 extra for every taxpayer in the county.

President C. P. Keefe, who presided, told the board he believes it is the duty of the directors to find funds one way or another to operate the library in a way that will offer the best in services and facilities to the public. "We've been holding the line for a long time," he said.

HAIL, HEAVY RAIN AND WIND HIT ON FRIDAY

The heaviest hail storm Gettysburg has seen in years struck at mid-afternoon Friday accompanied by lightning, strong winds and heavy rain. Hailstones up to the size of mothballs fell for more than 10 minutes.

Battered gardens and flower beds in the town showed what might have happened to orchards and field crops if the hailstorm had been general.

The hail apparently skipped over fruit-growing sections of the county and funneled into Gettysburg and some sections directly north of the town. Accompanied by strong winds that blew first from the north and then from the south, the little balls of ice came down with a roar for nearly 15 minutes with torrents of rain.

There was no hail south, east and west of the town but several points north of the borough reported hail. Many sections of the county missed both rain and hail.

Lightning Hits Barn

In about a half hour, eight-tenths of an inch of rain fell at The Gettysburg Times Weather Station.

During the same storm, lightning struck the barn on the farm of J. Walter Kugler, Fairfield R. 2, three miles south of Fairfield. There was rain but no hail there. The lightning struck ripped off boards and damaged a concrete wall but there was no fire. The Metropolitan Edison Com-

DR. N. G. WICKEY ADDRESSES 200 ALUMNI HERE

Dr. N. J. Gould Wickey, New York City, executive secretary of the Board of Higher Education of the United Lutheran Church in America, spoke on "The Best Is Yet to Come" at a dinner meeting of Gettysburg College alumni Friday evening in the college dining hall. Two hundred were present.

"Our achievements of today are but the prologue to the future," the Gettysburg College and Seminary graduate declared. Wickey earned his doctoral degree from Harvard University and received an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree from Gettysburg College. He has devoted his entire career to the church and to church-related colleges.

"Whatever the success of Gettysburg College in actually achieving the proper purpose in its liberal arts program, whatever the successes and failures of our lives, however confused and broken this world may be today, if we as alumni and friends of Gettysburg College will live and act according to the basic principles upon which this college was built and is being maintained, then we too can look forward to a new world tomorrow. Our lives and the influence of this college will continue. Our lives shall endure unto eternity," Dr. Wickey affirmed.

"Great Tragedy"

The great tragedy of this hour, he pointed out, "is that men will strive to know the moon and they don't understand one another; that governments will spend billions to know the space world and they refuse to spend millions to solve problems in the area of human relations."

"The purpose of education is the complete and harmonious development of the whole personality to the honor of God, for the interest and happiness of the individual and for the welfare of all mankind."

"The education which is to help make the future greater than the present."

16-Year-Old Missing Plane Is Sahara Desert Mystery

By GEOFFREY GOULD
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Sahara Desert has cast up a mystery as deep and baffling as any recorded in the annals of the seas.

A World War II B24 bomber which had a crew of nine has been found in the waterless waste of Libya, 380 miles south of Benghazi. It was last seen 16 years ago when it took off from a Libyan base for a bombing raid on Naples, Italy.

The bomber lies there on the sand, preserved almost perfectly in the hot, arid desert air. Although its fuselage was snapped in two at the tail, the plane appears undamaged otherwise. Its radio still is working order.

There is not a trace of the crewmen who flew off on that mission in 1943. No clothing, no written records.

Water Bottles Intact

Water bottles, presumably tightly capped, were found still filled in the cabin of the plane. Had the crew crash-landed in the desert

Miss Caroline Buehler Is Killed When Car Hits Tractor Trailer Friday

Miss Caroline "Mert" Buehler, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Buehler, Gettysburg R. 1, was fatally injured Friday afternoon while returning in an automobile from Gettysburg High School to her home.

The fatal accident occurred at 2 o'clock 1½ miles south of here on the Littlestown Rd. within about 200 yards of Miss Buehler's home.

Critically injured in the accident was the driver of the car, 16-year-old Bonita Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steward Boyd, Gettysburg R. 1, a junior at the local high school. She is a patient at the Warner Hospital with a fractured pelvis, a fractured right leg, ten broken ribs and numerous abrasions and contusions of the scalp and body.

CAROLINE BUEHLER

The accident occurred as the two young women were returning from the high school where they had gone to secure their final report cards. Miss Buehler had graduated from the high school at exercises Sunday evening but the final reports were not ready until Friday.

Dies In Hospital

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, said Miss Buehler's death occurred at 4:15 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Warner Hospital of a basal fracture of the skull and a fracture of the pelvis. He added that he will hold an inquest into the cause of the death.

The two young ladies, their luggage already packed, planned to go to Atlantic City today for a vacation.

State police said Miss Boyd, operating a car owned by Harold E. Weaver, Biglerville R. 2, was traveling south, about 200 yards north of the home of Miss Buehler, when the car went off the west side of the highway. Miss Boyd apparently tried to return to the paved highway and the car went out of control. The officers said it ran into the rear dual wheels of a tractor-trailer operated by Norbert J. Czajkowski, 29, of Pittsburgh.

Knock Off 8 Wheels

Police said the eight wheels of the dual rear wheel assembly of the trailer were knocked from under the trailer by the impact. The car, after the crash, spun around and came to rest on the west side of the highway facing north. The tractor-trailer continued north for about 100 feet.

Rufus Reaver, of the Gettysburg Fire Department ambulance squad called to the scene, said the two young women apparently had been thrown out of the car by the impact. Miss Boyd was found on the west side of the highway, Miss Buehler on the east side of the road.

Damage Totals $2,500

State police said the tractor was owned by the Fyock Motor Lines, Inc., of Pittsburgh, and the trailer, which was loaded with sugar, was owned by John W. Wieland, also of Pittsburgh.

Damage was estimated at $900 to the car and $1,600 to the trailer. The tractor was undamaged.

At Gettysburg High School, Miss Buehler had been a cheerleader, active in the Girls' Athletic Association, a member of the library assistants, the ping-pong club, the library service club, the nurses aid club, journalism club, cheerleaders club, mathematics club, chemistry club, which she had served as treasurer; the high school Civil War Round Table and the Junior Historians.

Funeral On Monday

She was born December 12, 1941, at the Warner Hospital. Surviving are her parents; a sister, Mrs. Watson Sadler, Carlisle, and two brothers, David R. Buehler, Brigantine, N. J., and Sgt. Arthur A. Buehler, with the United States Marine Corps at Quantico, Va.

Funeral services for Miss Buehler will be held Monday morning at 10 o'clock with a requiem communion at the Prince of Peace Episcopal Church with the Rev. J. Harold Mowen officiating. Interment will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

Friends may call Sunday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock at the Peters Funeral Home, Carlisle St.

CRASH DAMAGE $175

Two cars were damaged Friday afternoon in a crash on N. Washington St. Borough police reported that Mrs. William Waddell, 47, 126 W. Middle St., was driving north and stopped for a truck which was coming out of Race Horse Alley. Carp Leppo, 32, Dover R. 2, also driving north, did not stop in time and crashed into the Waddell car, police said. Damage to the Waddell car was estimated at $140 and to the Leppo car at $35. There were no injuries.

POLICE PROBE 3 ACCIDENTS; TWO INJURED

Two men were injured in three auto accidents investigated by state police Friday and this morning.

Joseph J. Celli, 24, New York City, suffered multiple lacerations of the face and James J. McEvoy, 21, New York City, was also treated for lacerations at the Warner Hospital after they were hurled from a Jaguar roadster to the Emmitsburg Rd. near the Marsh Creek bridge Friday afternoon at 3:50 o'clock.

State police said Celli was driving the car north in the rain when the vehicle skidded around, tossing out the two men and then rain into an embankment, causing $600 damage to the car.

After treatment Celli was taken by state police before Justice of the Peace John Whitman, Gettysburg R. D., where he paid a fine of $10 and costs on a charge of driving too fast for conditions.

Escapes Injury

Friday evening at 5:45 o'clock Joseph V. Smarsh, 54, Danville, escaped injury when he drove his car off the Gettysburg-Harrisburg Rd. two miles north of York Springs. State police said Smarsh was headed south and planned to pass a truck ahead. As he started to pass, a car ahead of him also started out to pass the truck. To avoid a crash, Smarsh drove off the highway and his sedan struck a fence causing $200 damage to the auto.

This morning at 2:20 o'clock two cars collided three miles south of here on the Biglerville Rd. State police said Logan Brent, 74, Gettysburg R. 3, was driving north and slowed to make a right turn off the highway when another northbound auto, operated by Dale E. Thomas, 22, W. York St., Biglerville, struck the rear of the Brent auto causing $200 damage to Thomas' car and $100 to Brent's. Police said Thomas told them he did not see the Brent car slowing ahead.

DESCRIBE NEW TREATMENT FOR OLD AILMENTS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Medical researchers, in talks to two different scientific meetings Friday, described new treatments for hardening of the arteries and heart attacks.

Two cardiovascular specialists told the World Conference of Angiology a new drug given a group of patients suffering hardening of the arteries resulted in an increased ability to walk without pain in 85 per cent of the cases.

Drs. Saul S. Samuels and Herbert E. Shaflet of the Department of Experiment Angiology at Stuyvesant Polytechnic in New York also said the drug increased the flow of blood to the hands and feet of 85 per cent of the 46 patients in the study group.

The drug is isoxsuprine hydrochloride, sold commercially as "vasodilan."

At the 60th annual meeting of the American Therapeutic Society, Drs. Jessie Marmorston and Oliver Kuzma reported that small doses of the hormone estrogen seem to increase a heart attack victim's chances for survival. The doctors are from the University of Southern California Medical School.

BIGLERVILLE FIREMEN WILL HOLD CARNIVAL

Biglerville Fire Company today announced plans for the first carnival it has held in more than 20 years.

Robert Baker, general chairman for the event, said the carnival will be held July 16, 17 and 18 either at the Upper Adams High School Athletic Field or at the Ira Lady American Legion post grounds, with final decision to be reached later as to the site.

Plans call for the Gettysburg Senior High School Band to present a concert on the night of July 16, the Bermudian Springs High School Band on July 17 and the Biglerville Senior High School Band on July 18.

Baker announced as his co-chairman Sterling Roth, Ralph Eckenrode and Andrew Starner. Other members of the committee will be announced later.

Arrangements have been made for a Ferris wheel and a kiddies car ride so far, and in addition food and other entertainment will be featured. One special event will be cake walks nightly for those attending the event, Baker said.

Baker said the carnival is being held to help raise funds for the fire company which now has two fire engines and since 1957 has been providing ambulance service to the Upper End of the county on an average of three times a week. Response to the purchase of the first ambulance in 1957 was so great, Baker said, that the company last year purchased a new ambulance complete with the most modern stretcher system, etc. Last week the firemen purchased a portable resuscitator for the ambulance to be used either for patients in the ambulance, or it can be removed from the vehicle and used anywhere.

Found By Geologist

In spite of the passage of time, relatives of all nine crewmen were reached Friday night. They said they had been notified by the War Department in 1943 that their loved ones were missing in action. A year later they were told they had been killed.

For 16 years the plane rested there and was seen by no one. Or, if some desert nomad came across it, he told no authority. It was found a short time ago by a team of exploring geologists.

The U.S. Air Force sent a plane crew to see the wreck and photograph it from the air. It is sending experts overseas to examine it more closely.

time. We've built the annex and put in a new furnace. It's remarkable what we've been able to do with a small budget and the few people we have on the staff. But there are maintenance jobs that already have been put off too long and there are services that we should be offering if we had the money."

Have Mortgage Of $10,212

The board took the position that whatever library legislation is approved at Harrisburg in this session, the tax-support plan will be necessary here. Proposed legislation requires increasing amounts of "local support" for a county library before state help can be secured.

With a $10,212 mortgage, the library has been unable to increase its staff to handle steadily growing circulation. Purchases of new books have been kept to a minimum. A small, often-postponed pay increase was given staff members this year and time-saving methods of keeping circulation records were instituted. Summer "curb service" by the bookmobile, given in the summer of 1957, was omitted last summer for lack of funds and there has been no mention of such service for the summer ahead.

Cut Staff, Hours Last

Board members Friday took the position that staff and the hours the library is kept open to the public will be the last expense items to be cut.

"Combined effort and a lot of help, including that of the newly-formed Friends of the Library," are being counted upon to win the referendum test in the fall, board members indicated.

12 Directors There

Friday's action was taken with 12 board members in attendance, the largest turnout of directors in many months. Mrs. Wilson announced an anonymous gift of $100 to the library as the meeting adjourned about 9:30 p.m. Earlier she had reported a $100 donation from the county tuberculosis committee.

A number of memorial gifts of books were listed by Mrs. Wilson in honor of these persons: Mrs. S. G. Bigham, Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, J. Albert Blackburn, L. V. Stock and Mrs. Harvey D. Hoover.

Reports Given

Mrs. Wilson announced the library has received from the state library a five-volume Bates history of the Pennsylvania Volunteers and 39 regimental histories. She also reported on the county library section meeting of the state library association recently at Lewistown.

A report on the first meeting of the Friends of the Library last month was given by Mrs. Wilson. Donald Becker reported for the property committee that estimates on painting the exterior of the library had been secured but without funds the matter was not pursued.

In his report as treasurer, Dr. Frank Hewetson pointed out that the library began this year with almost no balance as compared with a $1,200 carry-over a year before. Largest receipt item in the last month was $300 from the Gettysburg Joint School District. Bills for the months totaled $958 with some book bills held up.

Circulation Reports

Total circulation last month was 9,501, the report of the librarian showed. Of that total 4,985 loans were made at the main library and 3,420 through bookmobile in the schools. The bookmobile traveled 298 miles in the month.

Letters were read from State Senator Douglas Elliott and Assemblyman Francis Worley in response to letters asking their backing for library-aid legislation.

Directors present in addition to President Keefe included: Prof. Francis Reinberger, Mrs. Leon Roos, Mrs. Robert Lott, Mrs. Ira Henderson, Dr. John Anderson, Dr. Hewetson, Donald Becker, Miss Ann Faber, Mrs. Raymond Hale, Attorneys Donald Oyler and H. Thomas Pyle and the Rev. Amos D. Meyers.

Western Allies May Set Time Limit On Conference

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

GENEVA (AP)—Western officials were talking today of setting a time limit for ending the Big Four foreign ministers conference to force it to a point of decision. East-West negotiations over the future of Berlin appeared stalled at the end of four weeks of sparring—both out in the open and in private sessions.

Western diplomats believe Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko probably will make his rock bottom offer for a Berlin agreement and a summit meeting in the last 48 hours of the conference.

They think Gromyko is awaiting new instructions direct from Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Gromyko said he did not plan to leave Geneva this weekend but speculation continued in the Western camp that he might fly to Moscow to consult with Khrushchev personally.

Secret Session

The four ministers arranged a secret session at the residence of British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and Lloyd were expected to keep pressing for a Soviet guarantee of free access to West Berlin.

Western officials said privately the three Allied ministers hold slight hopes of any immediate progress for resolving this and related Berlin issues.

They feel Gromyko cannot give a final answer to their insistence the Soviets remove threats to West Berlin until he gets further high policy decisions from the Kremlin.

The three Western foreign ministers agreed among themselves before the outset of the conference they would wear down Gromyko at his own waiting game.

The semipublic session at the Palace of Nations Friday brought only a fresh round of argument on the old positions so far as Berlin is concerned.

ASK YOUR PASTOR

He'll tell you it's wise to plan your family burial estate and memorial NOW!

Because people turn to him in time of sorrow, he knows so well that it is no time for the bereaved to have to hurriedly select a cemetery lot.

He'll tell you, "The selection of a family burial estate is a family matter that should be agreed on by all after ample consideration. The time to do it is now."

In following his advice, by all means select a cemetery where you are allowed to practice the traditional American custom of erecting a suitable monument of granite or marble as a lasting tribute to your loved ones.

Stough Garage In New Oxford Is Destroyed In $10,000 Fire: Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the Carl Stough Ford garage in New Oxford Friday afternoon.

The fire began about 1 o'clock and was discovered by Norbert Lingg, a mechanic who upon returning to work from lunch found fire blazing in the center of the garage along the west side of the 175-foot-long, 50-foot-wide concrete and frame structure. The New Oxford fire company arrived and the flames were nearly brought under control when there was an explosion which knocked out a 30-foot section of the center of the west wall. With the falling of the wall the roof of the structure caved in and flames spread rapidly throughout the building, gutting it.

Today's Talk

THE WONDER OF SEEDS

Ever since I was a young boy I have been fascinated with the sight of tiny flowers coming up from the Springtime earth. Who planted the seeds that made this earth of ours a miracle garden? We get all our clues from Nature. We walk over a great chemical laboratory each day of our lives. Scientists and chemists are forever experimenting, as well as trying to discover new products not yet discovered.

We can walk nowhere in the out of doors that we don't discover something new, but the lover and investigator after beauty and the mysteries of seeds that later reveal so much because of the interest of so many in Nature, compels us to bow our head humbly before God, the Creator of all.

There are great trees on the plot of ground where I have my home, that I set out many years ago. Today they give abundant shade, some towering a hundred feet or more, outside where I read and write. It's a good earth that God has given us to fashion and love. Each tree has its own design of leaf, never varying.

Nature creates thousands more of its seeds just so there will still be plenty of flowers and growing things to keep this earth like a garden! Nature has her own coloring place, and doesn't let us in on her secrets. How did the beautiful white pond lily grow right out from the mud? I never look upon a shrub or flower anywhere that I am not filled with wonder.

How wonderful it is that there are people with whom we can talk about the beauty and wonders of Nature, and of time and eternity! I look upon seeds as missionaries.

Just Folks

ALWAYS BUSY
The busybody, busy is
With other folks' affairs.
He mixes in and interferes
And multiplies their cares.
He never seems to take a rest;
And I'm a firm believer
He is the only man alive
Who never gets spring fever.
He seems to have no business of
His own to fret or worry,
But running yours just pleases him;
He'll do it in a hurry.
Brain fog has never troubled him,
Vacation's a deceiver;
You'll always find him on the job.
He never gets spring fever.

The busybody never wants
To take a fishing trip;
He never travels far away,
He doesn't own a grip.
In restless jaunts away from town
He is no firm believer.
Week in, week out he's butting in.
He never gets spring fever.

That total, $75,628,310, is the figure the tax board has set as the market valuation of Adams county's property. A Bit Of History About Black's Graveyard

By B. F. M. MacPHERSON

B. F. M. MacPHERSON
The data on the Edie family, members of the Upper Marsh Creek Presbyterian Church, is continued at this time with notes from the files of the "Adams Centinel" (later the "Star and Sentinel").

6. Monday, January 9, 1837 — "Died, Thursday night, January 5, 1837, Mr. David Edie, of this borough (Gettysburg, Pennsylvania), in the 73rd year of his age."

Note: — A son of Samuel Edie, soldier of the American Revolution, who is buried in an unmarked grave in Black's (Upper Marsh Creek Presbyterian) Graveyard. David Edie is mentioned in his father's will and was apparently the youngest son in the family.

This concludes the notes, for the time being at least, on the Edie family.

Innis Family Graves

The next graves on the list for the graveyard of Upper Marsh Creek (Black's) to be included in this study are those of the Innis family. At the present time there are three marked graves in this plot. The inscriptions from these stones are as follows:

1. "In memory of Jean Innis/ died December 10, 1760/ Aged 39 years."

2. "In memory of James Innis/ December 29, 1766/ Aged 62 years."

3. "In memory of Robert Innis/ died February 1, 1763/ Aged 40 years."

James Innis, who died in 1766, aged 62 years, was apparently the pioneer ancestor of this family in the Manor of Masque (Marsh Creek Settlement). According to records in the Land Office, Pennsylvania Department of Internal Affairs, James Innis had taken up and made improvements on a tract of 103 acres before May, 1740. The family were members of the Upper Marsh Creek Presbyterian Church but by 1801 the name had disappeared from the church records. Like so many of the early Scotch settlers this family followed the western frontier.

Nothing further is known pertaining to this clan at the present time.

Kerr Family

The Kerr family follows on the list of marked graves for this burial ground.

1. "In memory of/ Eleanor/ wife of/ George Kerr, Esq./ Died April 27, 1815/ In the 45th year/ of her age."

Adams Centinel, Wednesday, April 19, 1815 —

"Died, Thursday, April 13, 1815, in the 45th year of her age, Mrs. Eleanor Kerr, the wife of George Kerr, Esq., of this borough."

Note: — There is a difference of some fourteen days in the death date given on the grave stone and that published in the obituary. It is impossible at this time to determine the correct one.

the Manor of the Masque in October, 1840. He was probably the father of George Kerr, Esq., Eleanor, the wife of George Kerr, Esq., was a daughter of James and Margery Wilson, whose graves are to be found in the old Meeting House Springs Presbyterian Graveyard, located near Carlisle, George and Eleanor (Wilson) Kerr were the parents of the following children:

1. Margery Kerr, who was married, February 12, 1834, by the Rev. Charles McLean, to the Rev. William Bolenius.

2. Eleanor Kerr, who was married on May 23, 1837, by the Rev. Charles Gill McLean, to Henry Black.

3. Hannah Kerr who was married on May 23, 1837, by the Rev. Charles Gill McLean, to Jacob Byers.

4. Martha Kerr who was married to Samuel McCullough.

Were Presbyterians
The Kerr family were apparently members of the United Presbyterian Congregation (the Hill Church). The Rev. Alexander Dobbin was the first resident minister of this congregation and from his marriage records the following data on the Kerr family was taken:

1. "Married, December 14, 1775, William Fulton to Mary Kerr — Mountpleasant."

2. "Married, December 29, 1778, William Galbraith to Sarah Kerr (Kerr) — Mountpleasant."

3. "Married, February 17, 1780, Josiah Kerr (Kerr) to Sarah Reynolds — Cumberland."

4. "Married, November 2, 1783, David Dunwoody to Elizabeth Kerr (Kerr) — Hamilton's Bann."

5. "Married, May 3, 1785, Robert Taylor to Nancy Kerr — Hamilton's Bann."

6. "Married, March 11, 1798, George Kerr to Nelly (Eleanor) Wilson — Gettistown (Gettysburg, Pennsylvania)."

Note:—Eleanor (Nelly) Wilson Kerr, the wife of George Kerr, is buried in Black's Graveyard.

Succeeded Rev. Dobbin
The Rev. Charles Gill McLean succeeded the Rev. Alexander Dobbin as minister of the United at the Hill Church and at Gettysburg. From his records the following notes on the Kerr family were taken:—

1. "Married, May 23, 1837, Jacob Byers and Hannah Kerr. By consent of all parties at her mother's."

Note:—Hannah Kerr was a daughter of George and Eleanor (Wilson) Kerr.

2. "Married, November 20, 1839, the Rev. Leander Kerr and Father's with the consent of all."

3. "Married, — — — 1815, Samuel Starr to Susannah Kerr; witnesses, William Kerr and Josiah Kerr."

4. "Married, February 12, 1834, the Rev'd. William Bolenius and Miss Margery Kerr. By consent of all at her Father's house."

Note:—Margery Kerr was a daughter of George and Eleanor (Wilson) Kerr.

5. "Married, February 12, 1834, Henry Black and Miss Eleanor Kerr. By consent of all, at her Father's house."

Daughter Of George
Note:—Eleanor Kerr was a daughter of George and Eleanor (Wilson) Kerr.

It was noticed that the records of the Rev. McLean are not arranged chronologically. This is due to the fact that the minister apparently copied some of his earlier records into the latter half of a new book — perhaps after an earlier volume was in a bad state or repair.

In the files of the "Adams Centinel" (later the "Star and Sentinel") the following records pertaining to the Kerr family can be found under the dates given.

1. Wednesday, March 21, 1810 — "Died, March 8, 1810, Mrs. Jane Kerr, the wife of Captain John Kerr, of Hamilton Township, this County, in the 37th year of her age. She leaves a husband and five children to mourn her loss."

Note:—Jane Kerr, the wife of John Kerr, is buried in the Lower Marsh Creek Presbyterian Graveyard.

2. Wednesday, January 22, 1812 —

"Married, January 21, 1812, by the Rev. David McConaughty, Mr. Edward Hagen to Miss Jane Kerr, both of Cumberland County, Pennsylvania."

3. Wednesday, May 12, 1813 —

"Married, May 4, 1813, by the Rev. David McConaughty, John Hunter to Miss Mary Kerr, the daughter of Captain William Kerr, all of Adams County, Pennsylvania."

Note:—The bride in this case was a daughter of William and Jane Kerr — her mother having died some three years before.

4. Wednesday, December 8, 1814 —

"Died, Monday, March 28, 1814, in the 49th year of her age, Mrs. Mary Kerr, wife of Captain William Kerr, of Mountpleasant Township, this County. She has left a husband and ten children to mourn her loss."

"Died, November 28, 1815, in the 72nd year of her age, Mrs. Mary Kerr, widow and relict of Mr. George Kerr, dec'd., of Hamilton Township, this County."

Note:—Probably the mother of the George Kerr, Esq., who married Eleanor Wilson.

These notes will be continued next week.

1813 —

Note:—George Kerr, Esq., who was married to Eleanor Wilson by the Rev. Alexander Dobbin in 1798. Eleanor (Wilson) Kerr is buried in Black's Graveyard.

5. Wednesday, April 6, 1814 —

Died Mar. 28, 1814

National Little League Week Will Be Observed By Gettysburg Circuit

A special program will be presented during the week of June 8 in observance of National Little League Week, it was announced Friday evening by Dr. Fred Tilberg at the regular monthly meeting of the Gettysburg Little League at the Elks home.

National Little League Week was proclaimed by President Eisenhower Friday in observance of the 20th anniversary of the founding of Little League baseball. Dr. Tilberg said the plans for the program are incomplete at the present and will be announced early next week.

It was decided at Friday's meeting to reschedule the second game of July 3 to compensate for the Firemen's Carnival which will be held during that week. The league will rope off both the new diamond and the old Little League diamond in order to permit parking in the outfields during the carnival week. The game between the Lions and Rotary slated for that night will be played as the second part of a doubleheader on Monday June 29. Because of the wet grounds which cancelled Friday evening's twin bill, the league now has four games to make up. The game of June 2 has been rescheduled for Thursday, June 18. The remaining rain-out dates will be played at the end of the season.

Acknowledge Donations

The board of directors expressed appreciation to the First National Bank, Gettysburg Construction Co. and Warren Chevrolet for their donation of baseballs. These names were omitted from the first acknowledgment of donations.

It was also decided to have the board of directors work in pairs at each game, taking up the collections and paying the working officials. The board voted to pay the recreation groundskeeper a set price each week for the lining of the fields used by Little Leaguers. President Dr. Tilberg presided at Friday's meeting which was attended by all league representatives.

RORY CALHOUN RALLIES TO WIN DRAW ON FRIDAY

NEW YORK (AP) — On the theory that one good fight deserves another, Dick Tiger and Rory Calhoun probably will do it again, July 16 at Syracuse, N.Y. Calhoun closed strong to get a draw with the British Empire middleweight champion Friday night at Madison Square Garden. By winning the tenth round on all three official scorecards, Calhoun escaped defeat.

Referee Mark Conn had it 5-5 in both rounds and points. Judge Bill Recht had Tiger a 6-3-1 winner and Judge Bill Forst thought Calhoun deserved an edge 5-4-1. The AP cards was 5-5 with Tiger the winner 6-5 on points because of a decisive edge in the fourth.

Wants Tough Fights

"I thought I won," said Tiger, 163½, a Nigerian whose British title was not at stake. "I will be better next time. I came here expecting tough fights. I welcome them."

Calhoun, 163½, likewise thought he won. His manager, Frank Bachman, said Tiger hit on the break which the newcomer claimed is legal in England. Tiger complained about Calhoun's low blows which drew a warning from Conn in the ninth.

The Tiger's real name, incidentally, is Thetu (pronounced I-hate-you).

Teddy Brenner, Garden Matchmaker, said Tiger and the White Plains, N.Y. scrapper might fit into a July 16 date at Syracuse. However, it isn't definite yet.

Voice Test Fails; Honey, Not Dear

DENVER (AP) — For years H. Ray Baker, editor of the Denver Post's Empire Magazine, has been told his voice sounds just like movie actor Walter Brennan's.

Finally Baker met Brennan at a cocktail party here and they decided on an experiment. Brennan pointed out his wife with her back to them across the room and suggested Baker sneak up behind and make a voice test.

Baker eased up and said: "Would you like another drink, dear?" Mrs. Brennan half turned her head and replied: "No, thanks, dear — and my husband always calls me honey."

"CYRANO" TO BROADWAY

NEW YORK (AP) — A musical treatment of the classic "Cyrano de Bergerac" is being prepared for Broadway production next season.

The Edmond Rostand play is to have a score by Jose Melis, conductor of music on the Jack Parr television show, lyrics by Ethel Jacobson, and dialogue by George White.

DICK STUART WANTS ACTION TO HIT HOMERS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Give him an opportunity and Dick Stuart of the Pittsburgh Pirates says he'll continue hitting 457-foot home runs.

Stuart was referring to his classic blast over the center field wall Friday night against the Chicago Cubs.

Pittsburgh lost the game 10-5, but Stuart made history. It was the first time in the 50-year history of Forbes Field that anyone had hit a ball over that point of the wall, the farthest distance from home plate.

Stuart's blast came in the first inning off Cub starter Glen Hobbie.

Hit Low Sinker

"I'm pretty sure that the pitch was a low sinker," said the colorful first baseman. "In any event, it was one of the longest balls I ever hit and as soon as I connected, I knew it was gone."

The blast, which drove in two runs in the losing effort, was big Stu's seventh homer of the season.

"All the balls I have been hitting of late have been solid drives," he said. "But I'm still a little behind my home run capabilities. I have been sitting out quite a few games and naturally I'm losing some of my timing."

Stuart has been making on-again, off-again appearances as Pirate Manager Danny Murtaugh platoons him, Ted Kluszewski and Rocky Nelson at first base.

"I sure wish I could play more often, then I could hit more home runs like that one Friday," said Stuart.

Eastern League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Williamsport's short possession of first place in the Eastern League has ended. Allentown is back in there battling for the top position it held most of the season.

Williamsport, which held a half-game edge before Friday night's games, was rained out at Lancaster. Allentown edged Binghamton 5-4 on a bases-loaded single by Bob Tillman in the ninth inning to gain a first place tie.

Tracy Stallard, who scored the winning run after getting on base with a single in the ninth, also was the winning pitcher. He took over from Jay Ritchie with two out in the eighth. Ritchie had replaced starter Ron Cote in the same inning.

Binghamton got all its runs in the eighth to tie the score at 4-4. Then Stallard led off the ninth with his single, Dick McCarthy drew a pass, and Danny Lynk got on base on an error. Tillman then batted in the winning run.

In other games, Springfield edged Reading 3-2 in a 12-inning thriller, and Albany's Evans Killean struck out three York batters in the ninth with the bases loaded for a 4-3 win.

The Giants finally won out on successive singles by Ed Hersteck, Don Strickch and pinchhitter Jim Duffalo.

Killean fanned 13 York batsmen in all, and held the White Sox to three hits after the third inning.

22 Room School Atop 12-Ft. Steel Trusses

NEW YORK (AP) — A 22-room elementary school in New Orleans appears to float in midair without visible means of support. It provides facilities for 800 students on less than one-sixth the ground usually required for schools.

Steelways, official publication of the American Iron and Steel Institute, says architect Charles R. Colbert mixed fantasy with economy in developing the Phillis Wheatley School. The building has elevated classrooms on either side of a series of bare steel trusses, 12 feet above the ground.

The magazine says this type of construction required 10 per cent more steel, but cut over-all building costs by 15 per cent.

APOSTROPHE IMPORTANT

NEW YORK (AP) — The name of the next show by Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe, the creators of "My Fair Lady," is distinguished by an important punctuation mark.

The pair are calling the musical "Jenny Kiss'd Me," separated by an apostrophe from "Jenny Kissed Me," a comedy produced on Broadway 11 years ago.

The Lerner-Loewe work is based upon T. H. White's triple novel, "The Once and Future King."

Youth Killed In Fall Off 'Copter

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Airman Kenneth Kendrick, 22, formerly of Royersford, Pa., was killed Friday as he participated in an investigation of a jet crash that killed an Air Force officer.

Kendrick was part of a helicopter crew that set down in the desert to investigate the crash in which Lt. Col. John Milowski, 42, was killed.

The Air Force said the helicopter started to take off abruptly before Kendrick was safely aboard and he was fatally injured in a fall to the ground.

Milowski was on a routine flight from Nellis Air Force Base here when he disappeared.

Records show deliverymen Louis Weiss and Bob Kitchen loaded cash into their truck from the Bank of America vault Thursday morning.

Then they started on a 6½-hour trip—unloading cash at Bank of America branches and other business concerns.

Truck Was Unguarded

At five of the 17 stops on their route, the vehicle was left unguarded for periods varying from two to five minutes. But investigators said there isn't the slightest evidence that the truck was robbed at any of these stops.

At the end of the route, when the truck rolled up to the Bank of America's Slauson Avenue branch, the money was gone.

The FBI said it couldn't recall such a large sum just vanishing from an armored car. Agents are checking each stop on the route.

If the money was delivered by accident to one of the branch banks, a bank spokesman said, it's sure to turn up soon. But if it went by mistake to a business concern, he added, it may take a little longer to find it.

"We're insured and so are the armored truck people," he said. "Actually, it's their worry."

The money—in $2, $5, $20, $50 and $100 bills—is insured with the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. ADD-16-YEAR-OLD

Littlestown Little League

The Indians took over sole possession of first place in the Littlestown Little League Friday evening by routing the Yankees 12-4. It was the second win in as many starts for the Indians.

Bobby Smith, the winning pitcher, belted a home run with two runners on base. Smith and his mound opponent, Ken Myers, each gave up but five hits.

Laugh? They're roaring, so to speak, and the rest of the American League is discovering it was a mistake not to throw dirt in on the champs when they had 'em in a hole.

After winning eight of their last 10 games, the champs have shot within 4½ games of the top.

They nailed their third straight victory Friday night with an 11-1 romp at Cleveland as the Indians dropped their sixth straight.

White Sox Lead

The Indians, led the league by two games when the skid started. Now they're 1½ games behind Chicago's leading White Sox, who defeated Boston 5-2, and are in a virtual tie for second with the Baltimore Orioles, who won 6-1 at Kansas City.

Detroit took fifth place from Washington by beating the Senators 7-6, skidding the Nats to seventh as the Yankees muscled into sixth in the jam-packed run on the leaders.

The Yankees swung for 17 hits six for extra bases, against loser Gary Bell (4-5) and three relievers. Gil McDougald hit his first home run of the season and Elston Howard his seventh.

A three-run, pinch double by Harry Simpson broke a 2-2 tie in the eighth for the White Sox. Gerry Staley was the winner in relief of Early Wynn.

Gus Triandos' 12th home run sewed it up for the Orioles, just 603 percentage points behind Cleveland, in the third inning against Ned Garver (4-4).

A single by Al Kaline won it for the Tigers in the ninth, scoring ex-Senator Eddie Yost.

DON NEWCOMBE WINS TO BEAT GIANTS 7 TO 2

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Big Don Newcombe, once the best pitcher in baseball, finally is on his way back.

It was Newk who won the first Cy Young Award and the National League's Most Valuable Player Award with 27 victories in 1956 for Brooklyn's last pennant-winning club. But the last two years, and the star of this season, were nightmares for the proud right-hander.

He had only an 11-12 record in 1957. Last year it was worse, 7-13 at the end of a season in which he had been traded by the Los Angeles Dodgers to Cincinnati.

This spring, after he finally admitted he had been bothered by arm and shoulder trouble, it looked like more of the same after he lost his first three decisions.

Wins 4th Straight

Now Newk's won four straight, putting away a 5-4 record Friday night by checking San Francisco's slugging Giants 7-2 on three hits.

The defeat left the second-place Giants 2½ games behind Milwaukee, beaten 5-1 by Dodgers. The Chicago Cubs beat Pittsburgh's third-place Pirates, who had won six straight, 10-5. The St. Louis at Philadelphia game was rained out.

Newcombe, a few days shy of his 33rd birthday, had a one-hit shutout for five innings in a duel with left-hander Johnny Antonelli, a long-time foe. Willie Kirkland's home run gave the Giants a 1-1 tie in the sixth, but the Reds, held to one run—on Roy McMillan's homer—and two hits for five innings, then chased Antonelli with five runs in the sixth.

Stocky Johnny Podres won his fourth straight for the Dodgers with a seven-hit shut at Milwaukee. Dale Long homered in a three-run first inning for the Cubs and Ernie Banks hit a two-run homer, his 13th, as Chicago put it away against Vern Law (5-3) in a four-run second.

MARINE BREAKS WORLD RECORD JAVELIN THROW

COMPTON, Calif. (AP) — Unheralded Al Cantello of the U.S. Marine Corps bettered the world record in the javelin throw Friday night at the 20th annual Compton Invitational Relays.

Cantello threw the spear 282 3½ inches. The mark surpassed the recognized world record of 281-2½ set in the 1956 Olympics by Egil Danielsen of Norway.

The javelin was weighed and found to be regulation. But it was impounded for a still further weighing before an application for recognition is filed.

The Texas quartet of Wally Wilson, Drew Dunlap, Hollis Gaine and Eddie Southern swept the mile relay in 3:08.7, breaking the intercollegiate mark of 3:09.1 set by a Texas team last year.

In the 440-yard dash, a world record was hoped for from record holder Glenn Davis of the Ohio Track Club. The record is :45.7. Instead, Mike Larrabee of the Southern California Striders won in :46.1, and Davis ran fourth, unofficially in :46.5. Sandwiched in between were Chuck Carlson of Colorado and Eddie Southern, clocked at :46.3 and :46.4.

World record holders Parry O'Brien won the shot put with 62 feet 7 inches, and another record maker, Bob Gutowski, took the pole vault at 15 feet 3¾ inches.

Cantello, a lieutenant from Norristown, Tenn., stationed at Quantico, Va., was a stranger to most fans on hand. His best previous javelin throw was a modest 249-3¼. He's 28, 5-7½ and weighs 163 pounds.

Appliance Choice And Use The Weeders Guide Discussed; Child Safety Training, Practice Urged

By MRS. HELEN TUNISON
Associate Home Economist

Consider versatility when selecting a small electric appliance as a wedding gift. An appliance that will do many jobs may be a better choice for a newly married couple than one that does only one job.

Many new-lives live a nomadic life for several years and move from place to place. Find out, if possible, whether the couple is establishing a temporary or a permanent home. If they plan to move from place to place for some time, a small apartment, or a house, try to choose an appliance that will be useful yet not a burden. Storage space is limited in many first homes.

Many homemakers continue jobs after marriage. Time for home-making tasks is limited. Small electric appliances can help a new homemaker make effective use of time. However, each homemaker's pattern of work differs. It may be wise to ask the bride which appliance will be of most use to her before making your decision.

When buying the gift, have an understanding with the dealer that the couple may exchange it. Let the couple know that exchange is possible. The gift may duplicate one they have received or they may feel that another appliance from the dealer's store is more suitable to their way of living than the one you selected.

Read Instructions
Much of the satisfaction or dissatisfaction you feel when you use an automatic appliance depends on you.

Dissatisfaction with an appliance frequently results from misunderstanding its use. The controls that make appliances automatic are sensitive and complex. For best results, it's essential to follow directions on how to use them.

Appliance manufacturers hire engineers to design appliances that will work easily and effectively. They hire home economists to test appliances as you use them in your home. Engineers and home economists, working together, compile information that you need to use the appliance properly. This information is in the instruction booklet which accompanies each appliance.

Answers Questions
The instruction booklet holds answers to many questions that may arise as you use a new appliance. Read it thoroughly before using the appliance. File the booklet in a convenient place.

An instruction booklet that's tossed in a crowded drawer and forgotten will solve no problems. It may even lead to needless problems. A simple technique may make you satisfied with an appliance. That same technique, if overlooked, may lead to dissatisfaction.

If an instruction booklet does not contain the information you need to use an appliance properly, write the manufacturer. Manufacturers can best improve instruction booklets if you and other homemakers tell them your needs.

Set Safety Example
Parents could prevent many accidents involving children by practicing good safety habits.

One of the first rules of safety is never to leave a sleeping child alone. Parents should obey this rule even if they plan to spend only a few minutes at the neighbors. All too often the unexpected happens in those few minutes. If parents plan to go out for the evening and have no responsible person to take care of their child, they should take him along.

Never leave a young child alone in a room with a lighted stove or a lamp using coal oil or gasoline. Teach a child the safe use of matches, and watch him while he learns. It's wise to keep nuts and popcorn from a child under four years of age. He may get them stuck in his throat.

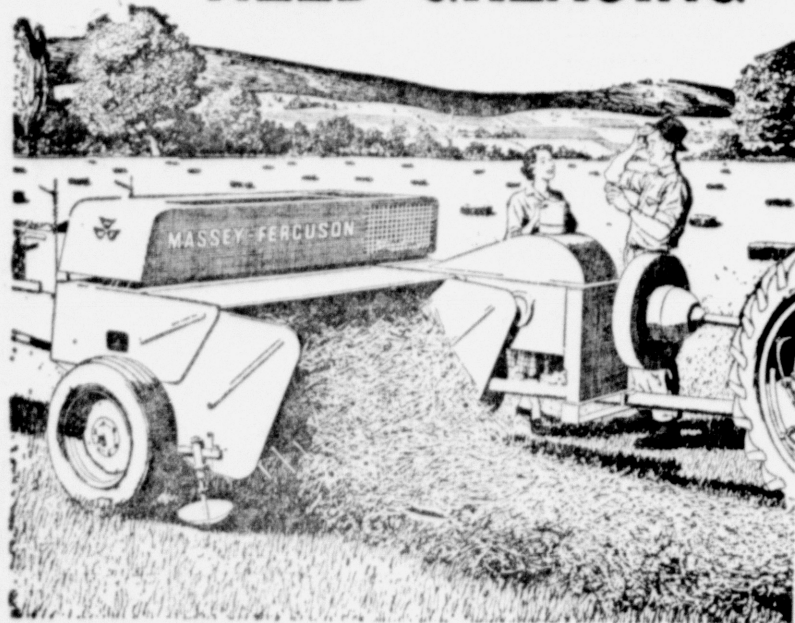

Check Toys
Check a young child's toys to see that they are well made. Buttons of stuffed animals and buttons on doll clothes should be securely fastened. Wheels on cars and trucks should be firmly attached. Many toys have sharp edges.

Avoid accidents due to misuse of medicine. Never urge a child to take a medicine because it tastes like candy, but he sure knows it is a medicine. Don't give medicine in the dark or use medicine from an unlabeled bottle.

CHAPPAQUA, N. Y. — This is the time of year when, accustomed to seeing plants in bloom, I wonder why I ever allow daffodils and tulips in a bed or border.

The tulips are yellowing in awkward upright positions and can't be cut down without ruining next year's bloom. And the daffodils, although bent down to the earth, make the garden look a mess and are, in addition, an invitation to slugs. It will be August before they have withered, signifying that the bulbs have completed their growth cycle and can now be ignored or — which is my unfortunate lot this year — dug up and separated.

Daffodils tell you when they need to be dug up and replanted by simply refusing to produce bloom. It would be very nice if the job could be undertaken right after their blooming period. It is a tough job and one's enthusiasm and digging strength are great in the cool spring. Come early fall, however, the enthusiasm has waned — and what's worse, one usually has forgotten the exact location of the overgrown clumps. If that is a job which is on your September schedule, mark the spot for digging — now.

Sudden Discovery
Winter-time, when the deciduous trees are bare, is the good time to inspect the skeleton of one's plantings and to check the condition of the materials. Summer-time, however, is when one suddenly discovers that these same trees and shrubs have been growing underground as well as overhead and that whole sections of once sunny garden beds and lawn must now be covered as shade areas.

A healthy little maple near my house, for instance, now has become a healthy big shade tree and its roots have crept into an important front garden bed. The result is a very scrubby garden, for the maple easily wins the competition for water and for food.

Grass-lovers who did not apply a chemical to nip crab grass before it started to germinate are now going after the weed with another type of control. And then, of course, there are these selective weed-killing chemicals which, while they don't do much about crab grass, do dispatch broad-leaved weeds as well as any clover which they touch. Lawn-growers who plan to use chemical controls for weeds thus should avoid any mixtures which contain white clover.

Booster Feedings
With many of the tender annuals ready to bloom, it is time to think about booster feedings. Of course, all plants should be provided with plenty of water during this prime season of growth and development. Best method is to soak the ground thoroughly by means of a canvas or plastic soaker, attached to the hose and snaked around the garden beds. Then, to provide blooming plants with some extra food, either feed them with a water-soluble fertilizer or dig in lightly a quick acting fertilizer one side of the planting — away from the root system so there is no danger of burning.

The decorative attractiveness of solid copper or solid brass is combined with the low cost and lighter weight of aluminum in wall tiles that can be installed by the do-it-yourselfer.

The aluminum is covered with copper-tinted enamel or brass-tinted enamel at the factory, producing a strikingly realistic effect. These tiles also come in with a hammered appearance, antique finished and hammered antique.

Metal tiles also come in many colors, both over aluminum and over steel and are especially popular in kitchens, bathrooms, laundry rooms and playrooms. A new type of metal tile, only one-eighth of an inch thick, does not appreciably add to the thickness of the installation and bathroom fixtures, for instance, do not have to be altered. It is also possible to apply these tiles over existing old tiles.

Fill Where Needed
For tiling over old walls, all depressions, cavities and cracks should be filled with patching plaster. Corners should be square and patched areas smooth. Old wallpaper must be removed, removed and the space patched. The baseboard can be entirely with plasterboard, or the baseboard can remain and the tile brought down to it.

The first step is to measure the area to be covered to determine the number of tiles needed. It is best to mark off units of 17 inches, the equivalent of four 4 1/4 inch by 4 1/4 inch metal tiles in a row. Measure from the exact center of a wall to be covered and work outward toward the edges. Next mark off leveling lines so the tiles will set straight.

There are two types of mastic, one with an oil base and one with a resin base. With the oil base mastic, the walls must first be shellacked. No shellac is necessary for the resin base mastic. The mastic is applied with a notched spreader held at a 90-degree angle. Cover an angle of approximately 15 square feet at a time and then set the tiles in place carefully. Use white grouting compound between the tiles after they have been applied. This should be applied, for best results, with a special grout pointing stick usually available where you buy the tiles.

Unprotected cement — containing materials, such as concrete, mortar joints and other similar building products, can spell trouble under certain conditions. Water working its way through exterior masonry, for instance, can damage the inside of a building, ruin plaster and woodwork and rust structural steel. In addition, the water can spoil the appearance of protected masonry by leaching out soluble salts and causing unsightly efflorescence, which shows up in the form of a white surface coating. Excessive dampness also can further the growth of mildew.

The paint industry has developed a number of products which will effectively protect concrete from the assaults of the weather and which will decorate it with any desired color to hide the effects of age and previous damage.

Water Thinned Paints
Newest of these are the exterior latex, or water-thinned paints, which are immune to the alkali contained in cement products, including stucco, concrete and cinder block. In addition to their familiar quick-drying properties, another advantage of these latex paints is that they can be applied over either dry or wet surfaces. While they prevent water from entering, they permit moisture vapor from within to escape without blistering the paint.

Also relatively new in the field of coatings for concrete are the transparent silicone paints which are used when it is desirable to keep the natural appearance of brick and other masonry unchanged. They perform their protective function by lining the capillary pores of masonry and completely eliminating the absorption of water. They can be used only over bare surfaces and it is advised that rough cinder blocks receive a coat of cement-based paint before silicones are applied.

Coat Masonry Surfaces
Portland cement paints have been used successfully for a number of years to coat masonry surfaces. These paints come in white and a variety of colors, and actually penetrate the masonry, bond with it and become an integral part of the surface. They are mixed with water just before use. The walls or other surfaces must be thoroughly wet while the cement paint is being applied in one or more heavy coats with a stiff bristle brush. The finished job should be kept damp for several days so that the cement will have a chance to cure. Portland cement paints can be used only over bare masonry or over previous coats of the same type of paint.

Synthetic Rubber Paints
Excellent masonry paints are made from synthetic rubber and they are solvent-thinned, not water-thinned. They have outstanding resistance to chemical and corrosive fumes as well as to water. Swimming pool paints usually are of this type. There also are oil-based masonry paints that have given good service on aged, thoroughly dry masonry surfaces that are free of alkali. Surface preparation of concrete usually consists merely in removing dirt and dust by vigorous brushing or scrubbing with plain water. Solvent wiping will remove grease. Brand new concrete should be washed with di-

GOP WILL ASK FULL PROBE OF HIGHWAY FUNDS

HARRISBURG (AP)—Republican pressure mounted today for a full-scale probe of State Highway Department spending as a result of a report on Beaver County operations prepared by Aud. Gen. Charles C. Smith.

GOP State Chairman George I. Bloom claimed the Smith report "pointed to the almost total absence of a system within the department of highways to keep tabs on the use of public funds."

And Rep. W. Stuart Helm (R—Armstrong) in a statement Friday hinted strongly that the report will make Republicans look closely at Gov. Lawrence's record highways budget for 1959-61.

Helm joined Smith, also a Republican, in recommending that Lawrence ask for the resignation of Samuel G. Neff from his $12,500 a year post as manager of the State Workmen's Insurance Fund.

Political Contributions
In his report, Smith claimed Neff, former Beaver County Democratic chairman, pressured highway equipment contractors to make political contributions.

Neff replied in a statement Friday that Smith's report contained "55 pages of shabby allegations fabricated from the whole cloth."

He added that it was "an evil and distorted attempt by a partisan politician to malign, to destroy and to extinguish the future contributions to society of a fellow man."

Neff said further that Smith's investigators in Beaver County "have interrogated, threatened, cajoled and frightened several of life—businessmen, highway supervisors, contractors, highway laborers and anyone that they hoped might give them a derogatory affidavit with respect to Sam Neff."

Will Ask Probe
He contended that any rebuttal on his part to the report "would only lend credence to a poorly contrived transgression on the intelligence of the average citizen." Helm, chairman of the House GOP Policy Committee, served notice in a letter to Lawrence that a resolution will be introduced in the Legislature on Monday asking for a Justice Department probe of Beaver County highway operations.

Atty. Gen. Anne X. Alpern disclosed that the matter had already been investigated for five months by Deputy Atty. Gen. Victor Wright whose report has been turned over to Beaver County District Attorney Richard Steward.

Steward said he wanted to compare the two reports before making a statement.

Crowding Of Chicks Can Be Lessened, Fly Menace Controlled With Sprays

By FRANK S. ZETTLE

There are some things that the poultryman can do to lessen the problem of his chicks crowding in the brooder house. It is customary to use a guard around and about 18 inches away from the outer edge of the hover at the start so as to train the chicks where to go when cold. As the chicks become trained the size of the area enclosed is gradually increased and the guard finally removed.

Piling straw in the corner of the houses, or else round off with wire, cardboard or whatever material might be available. Chicks will pile up or huddle from extreme heat.

FRANK S. ZETTLE as well as from cold so temperatures must be considered from both extremes. House and brooder ventilation should be increased as chicks grow because ventilation aids in the "hardening off" process. Opening windows, curtains, or ventilators help to regulate the temperature in the pen.

Some poultrymen keep a dim light burning all night long in their brooder houses. Mostly 7½ watt bulbs are used but when not available poultrymen are using the smallest watt bulb they can obtain. Those who have used the light in their brooder house maintain that their crowding problem has been almost entirely eliminated. The lights are used until the chicks are roosting or transferred to shelters. Early roosting is another practice which has helped to solve this problem. With birds of the heavy breed it is, however, difficult to get them to roost at a very early age.

Fly Menace

The house fly is a danger to the health of man and animals because it carries and spreads disease germs that may be in the material it breeds in, feeds on, or works on.

The fly breeds and feeds most extensively in various manures, garbage, and fermenting crop waste. If disease germs are in these materials or in others they frequent, the flies get them on their hairy legs, feet, and in their digestive tracts. If the flies have access to man's food, they contaminate it by walking over it and by leaving their excreta on it.

To control the house fly, do these things:

Eliminate the breeding places. Follow sanitary practices constantly. Dispose of manure and garbage properly every week. Keep garbage and other refuse under cover.

Screen Openings

Screen windows and doors of the home, dairy barns, and milk rooms.

Use proper insecticide and use it correctly.

To kill flies quickly inside the homes, use a space spray (or aerosol) that contains pyrethrins or organic thiocyanates, or the combination of these.

To kill flies in and around farm buildings apply a surface spray to the inside of buildings where livestock is kept; also, spray areas where flies may collect on the outside. Two most common surface sprays are diazinon and Korlan. Use diazinon at the rate of 8 pounds of 25 per cent wettable powder, or 1 gallon of 25 per cent emulsion in 50 gallons of water. Do not use diazinon in poultry houses. Use Korlan at the rate of 4 gallons of 12½ per cent emulsion in 50 gallons of water. Apply either of the spray mixtures at the rate of about 1 gallon per 500 square feet of area.

ENTHUSIASTS ON COVERED BRIDGES UNITE

Covered bridge enthusiasts from all sections of Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jersey, Delaware, and West Virginia recently attended an organizational meeting to form a permanent group interested in preserving and restoring the covered wooden bridges still remaining in Pennsylvania.

The society adopted the name "The Theodore Burr Covered Bridge Society Of Pennsylvania."

It will be the purpose of this organization to assist wherever possible in the preservation and restoration of those remaining covered wooden bridges still existing in the Keystone State, which number between 350 and 360. The old covered wooden bridges were sturdy structures, and their greatness was their part in the public enterprise of their time and their straightforward expression of functional structure.

To Compile Facts

The new covered bridge society will also seek out and compile historical facts and data concerning original building costs, dates, and names of builders, if possible, and form lists showing locations by townships and route numbers for the counties of Pennsylvania where these bridges still remain. This information will be made available to the public, both in Pennsylvania and any other states where interest is indicated.

Members will take part in field trips for the purpose of taking pictures and they will show slides at meetings and public gatherings. A monthly bulletin will be published as a means of disseminating such facts, figures, and news as would be of interest to covered bridge enthusiasts.

Anyone desiring further information about the society should contact the organizational chairman, Mrs. Vera Wagner, 235 Boas St., Harrisburg.

ciently dry for safe-keeping. The Penn State forage sampler, or device which does a comparable job, must be used in sampling baled or loose hay. The forage sampler and sample cartons are available at the agricultural extension office.

We suggest sampling each major type of hay separately. Major types to be considered are mixed or legume, grass, and birdsfoot trefoil. In addition, sample first-cutting hay separately from aftermath cuttings with each of the 3 major types.

Usually it is not necessary to sample each aftermath cutting separately (second or third). Likewise straight legume hay need not be sampled separately from mixed hay containing a fair portion of legumes.

Farmers are urged to identify adequately the various lots and then carefully file the forage testing report, because the sample number must be provided when feeding programs are requested during barn-feeding period.

RUBBLE OF WAR STILL LITTERS INVASION AREA

By HARVEY HUDSON

OMAHA BEACH, France (AP) —The former GI stood on an invasion beach of Normandy and looked around.

"I remember there was a two-story frame house as we went out from the beach and I don't see the house."

Edward Green, Elizabeth City, N.C., paced up and down the beach trying to pinpoint the exact spot where he landed at 8:30 a.m. on D-Day as a combat engineer. Green was among scores of U.S. veterans who came back—many of them with their families—to visit the scenes of their heartaches and triumphs on Omaha and Utah beaches in World War II.

Today the setting was peaceful—but the rubble of war still littered the invasion coast on the 15th anniversary of the mammoth second-front assault which started the Allied sweep across Europe and brought Germany to her knees within 11 months.

Moss-Covered Barges Moss-covered barges lie scattered about Omaha Beach, and rusted troop carriers settle deep in the sand.

Strips of steel matting used for improvised roads have been twisted by rising and falling rip tides. From off shore, you could hear the water slapping the burned-out hulls of vessels scuttled to make artificial harbors for the invasion craft.

Aside from a few fishermen, the vast expanse remains deserted. Even the inland reminders of the war have almost disappeared. On the bluffs above the beach, fine sand has invaded the grass-covered pill boxes that sheltered the German defenders.

Hedge-row Jungle Hedge rows that provided cover for the Germans have reverted back to jungle thickness.

Herds of grazing cattle and the stillness made it difficult to believe that war ever passed this way.

Along the 30-mile invasion coast

"Safety makes sense." This will be the theme of the 16th annual National Farm Safety Week to be observed July 1925.

The special week, proclaimed by President Eisenhower, is sponsored jointly by the National Safety Council and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The purpose of the observance, says the council, is to promote safety and accident prevention on American farms—in the field, in the home and on the highway.

Leading farm organizations are endorsing the seven-day safety campaign.

Each year more than 12,000 farm residents are killed in accidents and another million are injured. There are more accidental deaths in farming than in any other major American industry.

The National Safety Council said it is urging everyone with an interest in the welfare of farm residents to participate in this year's National Farm Safety Week.

"Safety is something you can't think about just one week out of the year," the council said. "But if everyone concentrates on it during Farm Safety Week—and then practices safety the year 'round, there's bound to be a drop in accidents," it added.

French, American and British memorial services marked the anniversary of the assault that claimed 10,724 casualties, including 2,132 dead.

Bankers to Offer Long Range Financing

LONG RANGE CREDIT to college students is a recent development. Some banks and loan companies are now thinking they may have been missing a good place for putting money out for hire.

No less than three exploratory queries have recently come to this college from bankers who think college students are good risks.

Two of the firms indicated they are tailoring plans designed for college students and/or their parents.

ALL THE RECENT ballyhoo concerning federal loans to college students, which is not nearly so extensive as headlines suggested, has given impetus to the idea in commercial banks.

It is inevitable that many students who cannot qualify for the federal loans, even were funds adequate, may need some long range financial aid. Resources, personal or within his family, act as a barrier to loans from federal funds. But they are factors that improve credit opportunities from conventional, commercial sources. Parents and students should not hesitate to contact their local bank for long range, credit planning to round out financial support comes registration time next September.

There will be more red tape incident to a loan from government funds than from the local bank. This is inevitable.

MEANWHILE HERE are some of the overall factors governing the much discussed federal loans. Freshmen are as eligible as anyone else. Colleges have consistently given an emphasis to getting good freshmen on the campus and started. Thus the frosh have long been favored with special scholarships.

It is accordingly a good idea to be exploring the scholarship possibilities at the same time the loan outlook is being checked. But beware of the "scholarship" that sounds big but which, because of other expenses heavier than elsewhere, will cost more money to accept and use than it would cost to go to an equivalent but cheaper cost of living college.

without a "scholarship."

To get the federal money the student must establish need. He must be taking a full time academic load. His student record must be better than average.

THE COLLEGE DECIDES whether or not the student qualifies for the loan and determines the amount. The college cannot, however, lend more than $1,000 to one student in one year, be the recipient a freshman or a graduate student.

In the more economical, tax supported colleges and universities, this maximum to an undergraduate will be seldom. Size of student loan needs tends to become proportional to the level of annual cost to the student for room, board, fees and tuition.

REPAYMENT of loans from federal funds does not begin until one year after the borrower ends his studies. The payments can be spread out for ten years. The rate of interest on federal money is three per cent.

Interest accrual while one is in the armed services is suspended. In case of death or disability, the debt is cancelled.

SHOULD THE BORROWING student go into teaching following graduation, half the loan will be written off, or "forgiven," when he has taught five years. But those going into teaching should not schedule repayment faster than the five year schedule.

Yes, borrowers from the federal funds can repay their loans as fast as they desire. Indeed, they will be encouraged to do so in order that others may likewise benefit by low cost credit.

LOANS FROM the federal funds are primarily intended only for young men and women who absolutely could not be in college without some such assistance.

Orphans or abandoned young people who have done well academically in spite of economic difficulties will receive top consideration all along the line from government funds.

BANKS AND LOAN companies, however, are not under such restrictions as all the foregoing. They can and will lend to anyone, for short or long periods, from whom they are quite sure the interest and payments on principal will be met as scheduled.

Interest rates on private loans are, of course, higher. And they should be. A wider range of service is being extended to young people who cannot qualify for the limited but cheaper federal loans.

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Greece had told the Soviet Union the question of establishing missile bases in this country is strictly a Greek affair and any outside pressure is inadmissible.

The Greek Foreign Ministry also rejected a Soviet suggestion that Greece quit the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

PSEA Favors More State Aid For Penna. Schools

By LEONARD A. UNGER
HARRISBURG (AP) — Take

away all state aid from Pennsylvania's more than 2,300 school districts and it would mean an average 30-mill increase in local real estate taxes.

For example, state aid for Curtin Twp. in Centre County equals more than 417 mills on assessed valuation of real estate in that township. On the other side of the coin, in Wyomissing in Berks County the figure would be only 3½ mills.

In some economically distressed school districts in the hard coal region, the situation is so bad that the Legislature must appropriate special funds to keep the schools open.

Made A Survey For these and other reasons the Pennsylvania State Education Assn., representing more than 75,000 school teachers in the state, favors more state school aid.

Last December, it made a calm, comprehensive appraisal of school financing problems in the state in a report, "Education in Pennsylvania—Today and Tomorrow."

Researched by a committee of 15 of the leading educators in the commonwealth, the report makes it clear that the cost of education in Pennsylvania must increase if acceptable standards are to be maintained.

"A Rounded Education" Acceptable standards don't mean frills. They don't mean just "readin', writin' and 'rithmetic." To use the report's language, acceptable standards mean a rounded education. It said:

"Major factors which will operate to increase the cost of education tomorrow are the increasing cost of living, smaller classes of a more practical size, extension of the school year, elevation of salaries and income in the teaching profession to a level comparable to those received by members of other professional groups and additional professional staff and adequate physical plants to house our present pupil population and to provide for our constantly increasing student body."

Favors Rise In Salaries Among other things, it said in effect, teachers' salaries must—and should—be increased.

The PSEA is sponsoring legislation that would increase minimum annual salaries to $4,500 for the 77,000 teachers in the state. The present minimum required by law is $3,600 a year.

A new teacher just out of college receives automatic pay boosts of $200 a year until her salary reaches $5,000. Beyond that, there is no legal compulsion to boost her salary although some districts have been granting merit increases.

Ambitious Plan The far-reaching PSEA measure would give a new teacher $4,500 a year to start and nine automatic increases of $300 a year until her salary would reach $7,200. Teachers with a master's or doctor's degree would get more. So would principals and superintendents. The cost in the next two years for that bill would be 66 million dollars.

According to school directors, the 1961-63 cost would jump 140 millions more and for 1963-65, 200 millions again.

Outlook Is Dim The school directors claim, if there districts are to remain solvent should the PSEA bill become law, it would eventually mean a state subsidy based on $14,500 for each teaching unit (30 elementary pupils, 22 high school students).

The school directors are asking a state subsidy based on $9,000 just to keep up with the present law which fixes a base of $5,800.

Prospects for enactment of the PSEA legislation are dim. Chairman Paul L. Wagner (R-Schuylkill) of the Senate Education Committee says the cost is beyond what the Legislature can afford. "At this moment," he adds, "the harassed Legislature shows little disposition to pass such a bill."

Times Have Changed But the PSEA contends that a teacher, entrusted with the delicate and important task of training and shaping the mind of school kids in the state, should be paid at least the salary of other professionals.

The Pottsville Republican recently published in a column recalling events of 99 years ago: "The Pottsville school board elected all 26 teachers in the borough last week. Teachers work 10 months but are paid on a 12-month basis. Total teachers' payroll: $7,822 annually (topped by Supt. J. P. Sherman's $8,000)." How times have changed.

LONDON (AP) — Moscow radio said Friday the foundation for successful negotiations has been laid at the Geneva conference.

At the same time the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda suggested the next few days may decide what results can be expected from the Big Four foreign ministers meeting.

"Contrary to gloomy forecasts by certain U.S. politicians and commentators, we in the U.S.S.R. believe Geneva talks can bring positive results," Moscow radio said in an English-language broadcast.

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Nikita S. Khrushchev made an excursion up the Danube Friday aboard a sidewheeler riverboat named Szabadsag, the Hungarian word for freedom.

A gypsy band played old Hungarian melodies for the Soviet premier and his hosts, officials of this nation in which Soviet troops suppressed the rebellion of 1956. The Soviet leader is visiting Hungary on his way home from a round of speech-making and consultations with various east European and Red Chinese Communist officials in Albania.

Navy Sights Soviet Sub Off Iceland

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy has reported sighting of a Soviet submarine in waters about 150 to 200 miles south of Iceland on May 29.

The vessel was spotted on the surface by the U.S. submarine Grenadier and a Navy patrol plane, engaged in exercises in the area.

The report was made public by the Navy in response to inquiries. It was noted that the Soviet sub was operating in an area commonly used by Soviet ships in entering the Atlantic from the Barents Sea.

The reference to Navy exercises under way at the time may have meant the Russian sub was watching U.S. naval operations.

But it's not serious and it won't keep him from participating in the U.S. Open beginning next Thursday at Mamaroneck, N.Y. The Masters golf champion from Honesdale, Pa., said he turned his right ankle Friday on the 17th hole of the Eastern Open, in which he was defending champion. He barked that hole but favored the ankle on the next and took nine strokes to wind up the day with a 77, five over par. His 36-hole total of 150 would have eliminated him from further competition in the Eastern if the ankle hadn't. It is the first time since January of 1958 that he failed to make the cut off for the last two rounds in a PGA tournament. Wall plans to rest at home during the weekend before heading to Mamaroneck and a crack at increasing his top money winnings of $33,880 for the year. Strauss' nomination as secretary of commerce appears to be in the hands of a small band of 10 to 15 senators. They are the senators who have not made up their minds about the controversial nomination, or, if they have, have not confided their decision to their colleagues. They are both Republicans and Democrats. Seven Democrats have said they'll vote to confirm Strauss. One Republican, William Langer of North Dakota, says he'll vote against him. Bitter Dispute Assuming that all the other 33 Republicans voted for him, Strauss would still need at least nine more Democratic votes to put him over the top. But he can't necessarily assume that all the Republicans will vote for him, although the tightest kind of GOP party discipline is being invoked. Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) told newsmen Friday he thinks 10 to 15 senators haven't made up their minds. Other Senate observers agree with the figure. Thus stand the skirmish lines in what has become by far the bitterest dispute between the Democratic Senate and President Eisenhower in his six years in the White House. Only nine times in the history of the republic has the Senate refused to confirm a President's nomination to a Cabinet post. Most of those were in the early years. The last time it happened was in Calvin Coolidge's administration. The bride's mother wore a royal blue nylon sheath dress with a white picture hat. She wore a corsage of yellow roses. The groom's mother was attired in a light blue eyelash sheath dress with matching hat. She wore a red rosebud corsage. Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the Bonnevillie Fire Hall after which the couple left for a honeymoon to an unannounced destination. For her going away outfit the bride wore a light blue two-piece suite, white accessories and a corsage of white sweetheart roses and stephanotis. Upon their return the couple will reside in Hanover. The bride is a graduate of Delone Catholic High School, McSherrystown, and is employed by the Sylvania Shoe Company. The groom is a graduate of Delone Catholic High School and is employed by the Jackson Shoe Company. BURY JOHN J. YEALY Funeral services for John J. Judge Offers Novel Plan To Cut Auto Crash Court Suits

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Judge Loran L. Lewis of Allegheny County Common Pleas Court has come up with a novel idea for paying damage claims resulting from traffic crashes.

He suggested Thursday that each car owner in Pennsylvania be required to pay $30 a year toward a state fund from which all claims would be paid.

Judge Lewis says his plan would eliminate automobile insurance and greatly reduce the large number of damage cases piled in civil courts.

Swamping Courts

"While such a plan may be too radical for even the most liberal of court reformers," the jurist said, "the time is surely coming if accidents continue to pile up on the highway at the present rate, that the entire court system will break down under the weight of the avalanche of automobile accident cases."

Under the Lewis plan, traffic damage cases would be removed from the courts' jurisdiction and placed in the hands of a referee.

Judge Lewis said a $30-a-year payment would be far less than the average auto owner pays for insurance. He added that $30 from each of the state's 4,017,000 car owners would create a 120-million dollar fund which "should be more than ample to pay all damage claims arising during the year."

W. J. DAUB OF EASTON NAMED PAA PRESIDENT

BEDFORD, Pa. (AP) — W. J. Daub of Easton is the newly elected president of the Pennsylvania Automotive Assn.

He was elected Thursday by the board of directors of the PAA at the organization's 39th annual meeting. Daub succeeds David G. Reese of Drexel Hill, who was elected to a three-year term on the board.

Elected to vice presidencies by the membership were B. Wayne Beglin, Rochester; J. A. Moore, Scranton; Elmer W. Reiber, New Castle; David H. Smith, Washington, Pa.; and John B. White of Philadelphia. Forest E. Bowles of York was elected secretary and A. W. Golden of Reading was re-elected treasurer.

Named To Board

In addition to Reese, the following were elected to three-year terms on the board: Harry W. Allum, Sharon; W. M. McCune, Kittanning; Wilbur F. Packer, Harrisburg; M. Frank Pultz, Greensburg; Harold G. Reslink, Erie; R. N. Romburg, Uniontown; Moore and Reiber, Aldo Franconi of Kingston and William Winterhalter of Pittsburgh were elected to one-year terms as directors-at-large.

E. W. Parkinson, PAA assistant general manager, said the PAA will battle any attempt to revive a bill in the State Legislature that would levy the state's 3 1/2 per cent sales tax on the full price of cars purchased under the trade-in plan.

Few Revival Attempts

The measure was defeated in the Legislature once, but Assemblyman Samuel B. Dennison (R-Jefferson) and State Sen. J. Irwin Whalley (R-Bedford), both car dealers, told the auto men here that there may be an attempt to bring up the bill for a vote again.

Under present laws the sales tax is levied only on the amount of cash paid after the trade-in allowance on an old car is deducted from the price of the new car.

For example: If a new car costs $3,000 and a car buyer is allowed $1,000 for his old car, he pays a tax only on the $2,000. Under the bill introduced in the Legislature, he would pay the tax on $3,000.

named as a committee for the project.

The auxiliary will conduct the multiple sclerosis drive here June 20.

Mrs. Chronister won the pig in a poke. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Florence Rohrbach and Mrs. Smyers.

Strike Spreads To Seventh Hospital

NEW YORK (AP)—The strike of nonprofessional employees against hospitals here spread Friday to a seventh, the Flower & Fifth Avenue Hospitals.

Local 1199 of the Retail Drug Employees Union posted pickets outside the hospital in upper Manhattan.

The union said that Flower & Fifth Avenue hospitals went back on a contract agreement. It said the agreement had provided for union recognition, arbitration and grievances, wage increases and a no-strike pledge.

The strike against the first six hospitals started for weeks ago in a move to win union recognition, which the hospitals refused.

The struck hospitals have continued operating with volunteer and substitute workers.

PRES. SOMOZA CLAIMS REBEL THREAT OVER

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — President Luis Somoza claimed Thursday night that the threat to his regime from invading rebels and a general strike is "about over."

The 37-year-old dictator said again that his 2,000-man army has the situation under control.

He told a news conference for foreign correspondents that the decision of the Organization of American States (OAS) to investigate the situation in Nicaragua guarantees peace.

Somoza had appealed to the OAS for hemispheric aid, but the organization's council voted 17-2 in Washington Thursday to empower a committee only to collect information. Council members stressed that they did not want to intervene if the rebellion is a purely internal affair, as Cuba's representative claimed.

"Crazy adventurers" was Somoza's term for the two planeloads of Nicaraguan exiles and others who landed from Costa Rica last weekend in an attempt to launch an uprising against his regime. He said the rebels "are running so fast we cannot catch them."

(In San Jose, Costa Rica, the Nicaraguan rebels issued a communique claiming that the rebel forces were being joined by volunteer ir argents. It said the two groups of rebels were planning to link up and then to march on Managua.)

COP SAYS BOY TOLD OF KILLING

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — The District Court jury trying two young men in the murder of their landlady, was told Thursday by two policemen that one of the men admitted the slaying to him.

Detective John Cronin of New Orleans said Bobby Joe Spencer, 20, of Los Angeles, told him that he hit Mrs. Rubie Blanton three times with a pistol, knocking her unconscious.

"I asked Spencer who cut Mrs. Blanton's throat and he said if her throat was cut mostly probably he did it," Cronin testified.

Cronin said Spencer's co-defendant in the trial, Gaither Eugene Crist, 21, of Chambersburg, Pa., told him he helped carry the body of the 59-year-old widow to the basement of her home here.

Cronin arrested the two men in New Orleans in connection with the robbery of a car driver.

Both men are being tried on a charge of first degree murder. The state had indicated it will ask the death penalty.

The first steels containing three alloying elements, nickel, chromium and molybdenum, were introduced during World War I.

Plastic Sheetting Suffocates Babies

NEW YORK (AP)—Two babies — one in the Bronx and one in Staten Island — were suffocated Thursday by plastic sheetting.

They were Nancy Lynn Walton, 2 months; and Migdalia Perez, 4 months old.

A warning has been issued by the plastic industry that plastic bags should be kept away from children.

The National Safety Council recorded 20 child deaths in the first three months of this year from plastic bags.

Fight Promoter Is Badly Beaten

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A police guard remained at fight promoter Jackie Leonard's door Friday as federal, state and local officials sought the men who viciously beat him.

Chief of Police William H. Parker said the attack on Leonard Wednesday night in his garage was a case of mob vengeance. Parker said he believed the slugging was ordered for Leonard even before he testified that underworld attempts had been made to muscle in on the boxing game in Los Angeles.

Leonard was a key witness at a State Athletic Commission hearing in which he told how underworld characters demanded he be cut in on one half of the managerial contract of Don Jordan, welterweight boxing champion. He told of receiving threats against his life when the demand was spurned.

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Charles Vidor, 59, Hollywood movie director, died of a heart attack at a Vienna hotel Thursday night.

His widow, Mrs. Doris Warner Vidor, will make arrangements for the funeral in Beverly Hills, Calif., their home.

A spokesman for Columbia Pictures said announcement would come from Hollywood of Vidor's successor as director of "The Magic Flame," which he began shooting here three weeks ago.

AF UNCOVERS LOST PLANE

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—U.S. Air Force experts drove through the heat of the Libyan desert Friday on their way to an American Liberator bomber that 16 years ago made an amazing unmanned landing.

The big World War II plane lies in the desert about 380 miles south of Bengasi. A team of exploring geologists found it recently. There was no trace of the crew.

An Air Force spokesman said today it seemed likely the crew had bailed out after a bombing raid on Naples in 1943, and that the plane landed on its own after its fuel ran out.

"The water jugs were still full," he said. "If they had tried to make it across the desert, they certainly would have taken all the water they could."

The spokesman said efforts are being made in Washington to identify the crew.

Queen Hopes For Better Cooperation

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II told 650 leading citizens of the North Atlantic Treaty nations Friday that she hopes their six-day conference will bring the Atlantic community "one step nearer to a practical system of cooperation."

The Queen opened the first Atlantic Congress, an assemblage of professors, bishops, editors and legislators meeting as private citizens in NATO's 10th year.

Iceland sent no delegates because of its dispute with Britain over fishing limits.

The congress has no official standing, but the NATO governments are expected to give its recommendations close study.

MANILA (AP)—A fire left 6,000 persons homeless Friday in Cebu City, central Philippines. Two children were reported dead and nine persons injured.
